DESOTO REPORT

The final report on the National Historical Trail Study conducted by the Southeast Regional Office of the National Park Service is now available. This 182-page report contains extensive information on the history of DeSoto and the current prevailing view on the route of DeSoto through the southeast. It also contains several charts and maps. It is available from: National Park Service, Planning and Federal Programs Division; 75 Spring Street, S.W.; Atlanta, GA 30303.

AAS PUBLICATION PRICES

As many of you know, the Handbook of Alabama Archaeology has been out of print since earlier this year. I am happy to let you know that the reprinting of the Handbook is now complete. I am sorry to say that a substantial price increase will be necessary for the new printing. The last price increase for the Handbook was almost ten years ago. In fact, the last price increase for any of our publications was in 1983 when the cost of the Russell Cave reprint was raised to $7.50. The costs of printing and postage have increased tremendously in the past few years, and the Special Publications Committee has recognized the need for an across the board increase in AAS publication prices. This issue of the Stones and Bones carries a current publication price list reflecting the price increases.

AAS members for 1988 may note that the 1988 issues, combined, of the Journal of Alabama Archaeology are also listed on the publication list. This Journal will go to press shortly. It is included on the publication list so the list will remain current. The issue will be mailed to all 1988 members when it is complete.
